Instructions: Please read the following and check each item, stating you understand and acknowledge the information. If you have questions, or do not understand, consult with our staff.

Medical Cannabis is used in treating debilitating medical conditions, defined as limiting life activities.

The use of cannabis affects coordination and cognition, and impairs your ability to drive or engage in potentially hazardous activities. Wait at least 6 hours after cannabis use before operating any equipment.

Some patients may experience symptoms when they stop smoking cannabis. These include irritability, insomnia, loss of appetite, restlessness, trouble concentrating, and fatigue.

Cannabis potency varies with the strain and the method of consumption. Determining the appropriate cannabis dosage is difficult and may require a trial and error approach. Always start at the lowest dose, and increase it gradually.

Nausea, palpitations and numbness are symptoms of cannabis excess. Chronic use of cannabis may lead to general apathy in a few patients, or to psychosis in those predisposed to the condition.

Cannabis should not be used if pregnant or breastfeeding.

Possession of cannabis is still currently illegal under federal law. Canna Care physicians and staff are neither prescribing nor dispensing cannabis. Our certification is that a qualifying medical condition exists, and that the potential benefits of medical marijuana appear to outweigh the risks.

Canna Care physicians and staff are addressing specific aspects of a patient's medical care and are in no way establishing themselves as the primary care provider.

Cannabis is not regulated by the Food and Drug Administration and may contain unknown quantities of active ingredients and impurities.

Smoking cannabis within 1000 feet of a school, daycare, or public park is illegal.

Smoking cannabis may cause respiratory illnesses, including cancer. Any ill effects experienced with the use of cannabis require discontinuation of the drug and medical evaluation.

A vaporizer substantially reduces many of the harmful toxins that are present in cannabis smoke. Oral cannabis preparations are less harmful, as are topical products.

Semi-annual evaluations are recommended as during an annual period, changes may occur in your health and your ability to use cannabis.
